Smooth and round, with a gamy edge to the ripe blackberry and pomegranate flavors, balanced with lively acidity and a nice touch of licorice and floral character as the finish lingers. Shiraz, Grenache, Mourvèdre.

Inky violet with a bright rim. Brilliantly focused aromas of blackberry, cassis pastille, bitter chocolate, black cardamom and violet. A remarkably pure, vibrant midweight, whose dark fruit flavors offer lovely clarity and lightness as well as superb concentration. The dark chocolate note takes charge on the finish, which features dusty, very fine tannins and a lingering note of kirsch. John Duval again shows a deft hand with this blend, and at an amazing price compared to the legendary vintages of Grange he crafted.
